I found this girl while "just looking for pictures" of pose dolls online. google "fabric doll painted", and she's the top image result. when I followed the link, the online shop looked like it was about 10 years old. I thought, "no way can this little $5 doll still be there." I was wrong. This lovely 2 year old lad, Roly, was abandoned as a pup and lived for about a year at a shopping centre in Thessaloniki, Northern Greece, where he was fed scraps by local people, petted by children and retired to hide in nearby fields to sleep at night. Sadly, he was threatened with the possibility of being poisoned or 'disappearing' as he was regarded as a nuisance and being an 'aggressive' dog, according to the Manager of the shopping centre, from what we can gather. Please like and share Roly and Cooper's page, to spread the word that rehoming a dog is a good thing to do, no matter where in the world they come from. See more.
