OVERVIEW

ABOUT THE BOOK

Day One I swam around my bowl. Day Two I swam around my bowl. Twice. And so it goes in this tell-all tale from a goldfish. With his bowl to himself and his simple routine, Goldfish loves his life until one day... When assorted intruders including a hyperactive bubbler, a grime-eating snail, a pair of amorous guppies, and a really crabby crab invade his personal space and bowl, Goldfish is put out, to say the least. He wants none of it, preferring his former peace and quiet and solitude. But time away from his new companions gives him a chance to rethink the pros and cons of a solitary life. And discover what he's been missing.

THE READ ALOUD

BEFORE READING

Use these before reading the story to help students activate background knowledge and make predictions:

- Look at this title! Have you ever heard of a memoir? I wonder what it could mean.
- What do you notice? Can you predict what this book might be about?
- I wonder if it's fiction or non-fiction? What do you think and why?

DURING THE STORY

Use these while reading the story to help students interpret the action and content:

- Day 3: Can you predict what will happen on Day 4? What makes you think that?
- Day 4: What is this object in the bowl? Have you ever seen one? Where? What purpose do you think it serves in the fish bowl?

MEMOIRS OF A GOLDFISH

TOPICS & THEMES:

- Memoir
- Feelings change over time

Tips for every book!

POWER PHRASES:

I WONDER...

I NOTICE...

TELL ME MORE...

DIGGING DEEPER:

"Tell me more, why do you think that?"

"How do you know that?"

"Why do you think they feel like that?"

"Interesting, did you notice anything else?"

- Day 8: What do you think of Fred? How is he acting? Why do you think the author made this character act like this? (crabby!)
- Day 11: What is a reflection? Do you think there is a mirror in the bowl? Why or why not?
- Day 13: What is plunge?
- Day 14: How is the goldfish feeling now? What makes you think this?

AFTER READING

Use these after reading the story to help students understand what they just read.

- What message did the author want us to understand from this book? How did he give us that message?
- Why do you think this book have the word memoir in the title?

BRINGING THE BOOK TO LIFE!

- Can you act out how you would plunge into the water? (similar to page 13)

COOPERATIVE LEARNING

- Turn to a neighbor and describe how you think Goldfish is feeling? How does the illustration help you know how he feels?

SMALL-GROUP IDEAS

1. DISCUSSION ACTIVITY

- How do Goldfish's feelings change throughout the book? What are some of the feelings he has? (Bored, sad, happy, lonely, frustrated, etc.) Choose a page and talk about hoe the illustration helps us understand the emotion.
- Discuss when students have experience some of the same emotions.
- Why do you think the author chose to a crab to be unfriendly? What does it mean to be crabby? Can you think of other animal words that describe emotions? (Foxy, sheepish, chicken, mulish, etc.)
- What do you call the place where these sea animals live? (Aquarium) have you ever seen one? How do you think you would care for animals in an aquarium?
- Have you ever had to share a space? How did you work it out? What were some things you had to decide? (Share an example from your own life, as well!)
- If you had a choice, would you want to live alone or with others? Explain your thinking.

Suggested Optional Activity:

- Write emotions that Goldfish experienced on slips of paper. Have students choose an emotion to pantomime with their facial expressions for others to guess.

2. WRITING ACTIVITY

- Choose another animal. Write "Memoirs of a _____"
Write entries for three days telling what might have happened on these days. Write at least three sentences for each day and draw a picture to illustrate.

3. EXTENSION ACTIVITY

- Draw a picture of what might be in your fish bowl. You may copy the attached template for the drawing.

Memoirs of a Goldfish is a very cute humorous tale - an award winning story, well conceived and orchestrated. However, don't be duped into thinking that both Memoirs of a Hamster and Memoirs of a Parrot are of the same caliber. Their plots are distressing and the language is rough making them inappropriate for young minds. Read more. A lonely little goldfish lives in a small uneventful bowl. But is it true? We reveal the truth about goldfish memory! In the first study, scientists added a lever to a goldfish tank, which dispensed food when pressed. Once goldfish learned to press the lever, they would regularly return to it to get more food. Even more amazingly, the goldfish actually learned to press the lever at the right time of day! Researchers adjusted the lever so that it would only dispense food within a one-hour window and the fish learned to come back each day around that time! The second study used sound to train fish. A certain sound was played each time the fish were fed, which caused them to associate that sound with food. The fish
