Charles Douglas MacLean (January 10, 1890–July 9, 1967) was an American stage and silent film actor who later worked as a producer and screenwriter in the sound era. Born in Philadelphia, MacLean was of Scottish descent, a sixth generation American. He was educated at Northwestern University and Lewis Institute of Technology, in Chicago. Although he came from a Navy family and was slated for Annapolis, he chose a different career path. After working as a bond salesman, MacLean enrolled in the American Values at Risk. Edited by Douglas Maclean (Totowa, NJ: Rowman & Allanheld, 1986. 168p. $28.50, cloth; $15.95, paper).

James Douglas MacLean, (born April 12, 1954) is a Canadian sportscaster working for Rogers Media's Sportsnet and former ice hockey coach and general manager. He is the former president/general manager and head coach of the National Hockey League's Columbus Blue Jackets and was also the head coach of the Florida Panthers. He is affectionately known as "Prince Eddy" due to his affinity to Prince Edward Island.
